

TSA Airport Complaints

What Travelers Need to Know

A comprehensive look at airport complaints to help you plan your journey better

Highest number of complaints

Consider avoiding travel through these airports during peak times or provide feedback to help improve services.

Distribution of Complaints

If traveling through these regions, be aware of potential issues and be proactive by planning accordingly

Geographical Distribution of Complaints by Airport (US Only)

Complaints by Category

If facing specific issues like screening delays, report your experience to help bring more attention to these areas

Regional Comparison of Complaints

Share your feedback if you experience these common issues to improve services in your region

Trend

Be proactive during times of increased complaints by allowing extra time and reporting issues promptly

Total Complaints by Year

Help reduce complaint rates by providing constructive feedback whenever you face an issue.

Top 10 Complaint Distribution by Region

Top Regions for Complaints

If you reside or travel in these regions, consider providing feedback to help improve the quality of services.

Your Voice Matters!

As a traveler, your feedback is crucial in helping improve airport services. If you've encountered any issues during your journey, don't hesitate to share your experience. By contributing your voice, you help highlight areas that need attention, ultimately making travel better for everyone.

FUN FACTS:

- LAX, JFK, and ATL are among the top airports with the highest number of complaints.
- The most common complaint category is related to expedited screening and property mismanagement.
- Florida and California are the regions with the highest number of complaints.
- Complaint numbers tend to spike during holiday seasons, reflecting increased travel volumes.
- Expedited passenger screening is often cited as the most problematic part of the airport experience.
- Newer airports or recently renovated airports tend to have fewer complaints compared to older ones.

Scan QR Code To Leave Feedback